

Abstract

Title: Sufficiency Economy and Enhancing of Local Development Planning Process

Author: Assistant Professor Sataporn Roengtam, PhD.

Affiliation: Department of Public Administration, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Khon Kaen University

This study proposes that the development of a local development plan Can be used to solve problems. And respond to the needs of the people truly. The need to develop on a new basis is to try to develop a plan based on integration problems and the needs of all parties together. The plan is to develop a single local plan that is the Tambon Administration Organization or Municipality, village headman and villagers came together in the preparation process from the beginning. Or may be called, a new local development plan under the concept of "One Tambol One Plan"

This study will introduce the concept of Sufficiency Economy Philosophy. The emphases are on "Human Development," "Social Landscape," that respects the diversity of individual areas, and "Principle of Understanding, Access and Development". And the concept of Local Governance that focuses on creating a central area or "public sphere" that all local parties can responsibly join and work together for local development. The expected result is to develop a guideline for the development of the local development plan of the local Administration Organization.